“Idle Musings of the Club Secretary”/ by John Harrison

Making Sail: As we host more and more events, it is becoming painfully obvious that our clubhouse becomes incredibly noisy as the space fills. From a sound engineering viewpoint, it seems that some dampening of the reflective concrete walls and ceiling could be extremely helpful.

Does anyone have an old sail or two that he or she would like to donate to the cause of making the clubhouse a somewhat quieter venue during major events?

Work Day: One of the things that has made Treasure Island a less desirable destination for sail-ins and the occasional cruiser is the dilapidated condition of the docks. Between the disintegrating Styrofoam floatation and planking that has not weathered well, some docks present stability challenges while other piers offer treacherous footing.

Treasure Island Yacht Club is considering initially offering the Marina a work crew on one or two weekend days, to rebuild the dinghy dock and put solid floatation under the walkway so that our visitors can land and come ashore safely. The work should also position the club as a good partner with Treasure Island Marina, LLC (the marina operator) and allow our voice to be better heard as development of the rebuilt Marina proceeds.

“Idle Musings of the Club Secretary” Cont’d

Yacht Club Fleet: One of the challenges that the current, comparatively small membership of Treasure Island Yacht Club presents is that it can be difficult to put together a decent size fleet of sailboats for a particular event, whether it be a cruise, a beer can race, sail training or even offer members the opportunity to get out on the bay for a personal event.

There are a few boats that could be made available for use by club members but they would require monitoring, maintenance and modest financial support.

Beer Can Races: Some members have expressed more than casual remorse that Treasure Island Yacht Club’s racing program vanished when the Navy’s fleet of Rhodes 19s were removed concomitant with the closing of Naval Station, Treasure Island. TIYC does continue support racing in San Francisco Bay by providing a race committee for two races, the South Bay Opener and the WestPoint. Further a couple of our members participate in local races.

However, the club lacks a program which is dedicated to giving members the opportunity to learn about racing and, even more importantly, develop racers who are credible contestants in local competitions.

Perhaps it is time to consider a modest revival of a modest racing program at TIYC, maybe with a midweek evening set of beer can races, focusing on different skills for particular races, and even supported by informal discussions of tactics and strategies before races and low-key critiques of results.
